

THE ICE CREAM DUDE RETURNS TO HIS ALMA MATER

The "Ice Creamcycle" is a big hit a Bennett Field Day 2018

James Karagiannis is a 1998 BHS graduate. James is following his dream. Ten years ago, he started ice cream biking. He travels around Buffalo (and now all over the world) selling ice cream for $1. "One of the hardest parts of being an ice cream dude is seeing the disappointment on a kid's face when all of their friends buy ice cream but they are left out because they don't have a dollar", said James. So, each kid gets the ice cream but not without a lesson. In return for the treat, they write a thank you note to a donor who has made the treat possible—everyone is a winner.

On Monday, June 11, James and the "Ice Creamcycle" came to Bennett where students were enjoying Field Day 2018. This was a hot day filled with food, fun, and games. The ice cream treats were a welcome mid-afternoon snack and the kids lined up enthusiastically.

Your Alumni Association was pleased to be able to connect with James and to make a donation for the Field Day ice cream. Our very own "Ice Cream Dude" is a wonderful example of a Bennett graduate working to put smiles on the faces of everyone he meets.
